ELABORATE PARADE SCHEDULED FOR 2 O'CLOCK

FIERY DEBATES OPEN 12TH HIGH SCHOOL TOURNEY

Finals in Maxwell Presbyterian Church Tonight

NO ATHLETIC MEET

With spirited orations, declamations and fiery debates, as well as contests in public discussion and music, the twelfth annual interscholastic tournament sponsored by the University Extension Department, was begun Wednesday morning and ends tonight when the finals in the debating contest will be held at the Maxwell Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock.

Nearly 225 high school students are registered in the tournament. Of these about 160 boys and girls are entered in the various speaking contests and 50 or 60 in the music contests, the finals of which were held Wednesday evening.

Debating seems to hold the center of the stage with 14 crack high school teams, winners in district contests held earlier, competing for first honors. Starting Wednesday morning drawings were held and the debates run off in rapid order. The first preliminaries were held that morning at which seven teams, representing Bowling Green, Seco, Bagdad, Hopkinsville, Madisonville, Bellevue, and Paris, emerged victorious.

In the second preliminaries in debating held yesterday morning, Bowling Green defeated Seco; Hopkinsville last year's champions, emerged victorious over Bagdad; Madisonville went down before Bellevue's three girls; and Paris drew the bye. The semi-finals are being held this morning when Bowling Green will meet Hopkinsville and Bellevue will contest with Paris.

The winners of these debates will meet at the Maxwell Presbyterian church tonight to determine the state champions for 1925. Handsome gold medals will be awarded to the members of the winning team, and the runners-up will receive silver medals. In addition a handsome cup, now in possession of Hopkinsville, will go to the winning high school to hold until next year.

Faculty members of the university acted as judges in the debates. Chairmen for the meetings were selected from the members of this year's university debating team.

All oratorical, declamatory, and

SENIOR WEEK TO CLOSE THIS P. M.

New Customs on Campus Demands Defiance

Today marks the close of a week that will go down in the annals of history of the University of Kentucky under the name of "senior week." During the last several days the custom of setting aside a special week in which to show deference to seniors has been inaugurated and it will doubtless soon become a tradition to be observed annually on the campus.

The seniors have distinguished themselves from the rest of the students by the girls wearing blue and white arm bands on which are the numerals '25. The boys have worn corduroy trousers and carried canes and some, to be very, very unmistakable, went to the trouble to grow moustaches for the occasion.

Every courtesy has been shown the seniors this week by both students and faculty. They have been addressed as "Mister" and "Miss" and they have been bowed and scraped to like true kings and queens of the campus.

With such an exhibition of deference as has been shown the seniors this week, who can help but look forward to the time when they too can command such respect and as for the seniors—well, who can blame them if they feel a little conceited.

THE STROLLERS' PRESENTATION OF "FIFTY-FIFTY" SCORES A BIG HIT

Hannibal Wiemann and Lucille Stillwell Star; Is Best Play Ever Produced by Dramatic Organization

Cast of Characters
Henry Brown, artist—Robt. Bigler
Paul Green, writer—Hannibal Wiemann
Sophie Bland, dancer—Nell Pulliam
Mrs. Podge, landlady—Lucille Stillwell
Patrick O'Malley John Lair
Mrs. Hawley, an art collector—Margaret Yungblut
May Dexter Mary Lair
Smudge, negro valet—Wayne Foust
Cap, an old salt—W. A. Thomason
Josephine—Mary Louise Fleming

The Strollers, dramatic organization of the university, scored the biggest hit in the history of their career last Tuesday night when they presented "Fifty-Fifty." Frederick Johnson's three act comedy and laugh hit of the season, before a very enthusiastic audience in the Lexington Opera House. This is probably the most well-balanced production the Strollers have ever fostered and was a brilliant success.

The scene of the comedy is laid in a Greenwich Village studio where two young artists, one a painter and the other a writer, struggle for existence and clamor for fame. Their dilemma is screamingly funny, every knock at the door spells dread for them and each creditor is talked out of the studio without his money. By accident their success began and they climbed to fame and wealth through chance and false publicity.

Hannibal Wiemann took the part of the young writer and Robert Bigler the role of the artist, and both acquitted themselves with positive credit. Wiemann was undoubtedly the star of the cast. His personality went into his role, which was phosphorescent with wit and the consequence was a triumph.

Miss Lucille Stillwell, who played the part of Mrs. Podge, the garrulous landlady, dominated the stage, also the two young bohemians, and kept the audience uproarious over her ludicrous mannerisms and speech. Her success and popularity was proved by the applause which she received. Miss Nell Pulliam's acting was pleasing. As Sophie Bland, sweetheart of the artist, she gave a charming rendering of the dancer's role. John Lair played Pat O'Malley, the Irish janitor of Mrs. Podge's boarding house, so naturally both as to looks and speech that one might have taken him to be a real Irishman recently in this country. His brogue was perfect.

Miss Mary Lair, appearing as May Dexter, the writer's sweetheart, deserves credit for her portrayal of the young newspaper woman who worked the publicity scheme for the benefit of the struggling young pair, thereby bringing them the fame they desired.

Miss Margaret Yungblut, who played the part of the aristocratic Mrs. Hawley, who set the two struggling artists on their feet by purchasing one of Brown's pictures being shown upside down, had a difficult part but did the role well.

Miss Mary Louise Fleming added spice to the last act by her clever bit of character acting. Her talent was acknowledged by the genuine applause which she received.

Wayne Foust was equally good in his characterization of Smudge, the negro valet, and his comical actions delighted everyone.

W. A. Thomason as a blustering sea captain had limited opportunity but both looked and played his part well. At the close of each act flowers sent

DANCE TONIGHT

Tea to be Served in Gym After the May Pole Dance

Miss Annette Kelley, recently elected Queen of the May, together with her maid of honor and four attendants, will lead the annual May Day parade in an old fashioned chariot through the streets this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Immediately following the parade all floats will return to the campus where the coronation services will be held.

The services for May Day started this morning at 11 o'clock when the Senior tree was planted near the entrance to the campus, following which Lamp and Cross and Mortar Board, honorary senior fraternities, held their pledging services.

At two o'clock the parade will leave the campus and each of the men's and women's fraternities will be represented by a float. Prizes will be awarded to the prettiest and to the most comical. The parade will then return to the campus where the coronation services will be held.

After the crowning of the Queen there will be a May Pole dance given by the students of the various gym classes and following this the Woman's Club of the university will serve tea informally to everybody in the "garden spot of the campus"—the "glen."

Editor—Alumni Secretary

The following editorial which appeared in the Lexington Herald of April 26 should be of especial interest to many of our alumni.

THE GRAND OLD MAN

The biography of James Kennedy Patterson refers to the University of Kentucky as, borrowing Emerson's phrase, the "lengthened shadow of one man." Dr. Patterson left a will with a literary legacy and literary executives. He appointed Miss Mabel Hardy Pollitt and Dr. William Benjamin Smith his literary executors, placing in their hands all his correspondence, addresses and papers from which to select, prepare, edit and publish a biography.

Never unmindful of the institution for which so long he labored, President Patterson included further in that provision of his will, "My desire is that they give special care and attention to such matters as relate to the growth of the university and my connection with it."

The greater part of the volume was prepared by Miss Pollitt and she very aptly says that Dr Patterson did not say what university he meant when he said "the university," but there was no doubt as to which he meant among those who knew him. Acknowledgement is given of the assistance of Reuben Thornton Taylor, Charles N. Manning, Samuel Mackey Wilson, Frances Jewell McVey and Professor Walter Patterson.

The story which is told of President Patterson's life, his love for the University and his long arduous struggle for it is an epic. It deals with the faith of a man who after continued setbacks kept on toward his goal until at last he saw an answer to his pleading and a harvest from his planting.

I had taken years. r. Patterson became president of the University of Kentucky in 1869 and remained at the head of the institution until 1910. His forty-one years of service gave him the rank as dean of American university presidents, his service being longer even than that of Charles W. Eliot at Harvard.

Dr. Patterson's greatest fight was with the legislatures for appropriation. During the final years of his presidency more was done than at any other time for the university.

While Dr. Patterson's work was conducted for the university, he had an abiding faith and interest in Kentucky. This biography well sets out his feelings toward the state when it says:

"Kentucky was to him a miniature United Kingdom. The passing stranger is conscious of the marked similarity of physiographic features between Kentucky and parts of England, and he is struck by a certain kinship of Kentuckians and Virginians to Englishmen. But this similarity to James Kennedy Patterson was more than a superficial resemblance. His belief in the deeper racial affinity was a passion, a never-failing source of inspiration to him for his life work. It is extremely doubtful whether any other man could have done for Kentucky what he did for it in his years of service; it is certain that nowhere else in the world could he have done his task with the same enthusiasm and the same unflinching confidence in the people for whom he has labored."

To citizens of Lexington and friends of the university the memory of James K. Patterson still is fresh and vivid. In writing the autobiography Miss Pollitt and Dr. Smith have done a great service to the state. The story of his life is one of struggle for an instrument that might be used in the development of the state so that it would be able to reach out toward its destiny. To native Kentuckians what an inspiration the story of this man should be; to those who have done so little to promote their state's advancement it would be a challenge to enter into the struggle with persistent faith.

UNIVERSITY BIBLE STUDY GROUPS WELL ATTENDED

All of the seventeen social fraternities for men at the University of Kentucky have Bible discussion groups, which were also conducted in six dormitories and rooming houses under the auspices of the student Y. M. C. A., according to the report compiled by Bart Peak '17, secretary and made public Saturday.

It is the first time in the history of the discussion groups that all fraternities have participated at the same time, and the number of groups and percentage of attendance ranks high among similar activities of southern colleges and universities.

The total enrollment was 480, and the total attendance was 3,913. Thirty groups were organized to begin the course and twenty groups completed it. The average attendance each week was 389. Three of the groups were led by ministers, one by a business man, fourteen by faculty members and nine by students.

The groups with their percentages and leaders, were as follows:

Boarding houses and dormitories:
655 South Limestone street, 100 percent, John Owens; 338 Harrison avenue, 100 percent, J. R. Smith; 345 Aylesford Place, 100 percent, W. B. Jones; 264 East Maxwell street, 98 percent, Prof. J. S. Horien; third floor dormitory, 87 percent, Elliott Netherton; 149 Washington avenue, 95 percent, Strother Melton.

Fraternities: Phi Delta Theta, 88.4 percent, Prof. T. R. Bryant; Alpha Gamma Rho, 87.8 percent, Prof. M. E. Ligon; Sigma Nu, 87.4 percent, Dean C. R. Melcher; Delta Tau Delta, 87 percent, Dean W. S. Taylor; Pi Kappa Alpha, 87 percent, Dean R. K. Massie; Phi Kappa Tau, 86.9 percent, Prof. H. H. Downing; Sigma Beta Xi, 86 percent, George Vaughn; Alpha Sigma Phi, 84 percent, Dr. J. Archer Gray; Alpha Tau Omega, 83 percent, Dean C. J. Turck; Kappa Sigma, 82 percent, Dean P. P. Boyd; Chi Sigma Alpha, 81.8 percent, Prof. E. H. Bureau; Alpha Gamma Epsilon, 81 percent, D. H. Peak; Delta Chi, 80.6 percent, six meetings, Dr. B. J. Bush; Sigma Chi, 83 percent, six meetings, Prof. W. S. Webb; Triangle, 82 percent, eight meetings, Dr. M. N. States.

K. E. A. REUNITES U. OF K. ALUMNI

U. of K. Banquet Is Well Attended

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Education Association held in Louisville last week closed Saturday with one of the best attended sessions ever held.

The University of Kentucky had headquarters in the Brown Hotel. Here there were special representation of the College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate School, the College of Education and the Alumni Office. Many positions for next year were secured by students and alumni through the Placement Bureau of the College of Education. The University of Kentucky band arrived in Louisville about noon, giving a concert at that time in Lincoln Park, one over the radio between 2:35 and 3:25, another in the lobby of the Brown Hotel at five o'clock and concluding their day by playing at the night meeting of the K. E. A.

he boys' Glee Club sang at the Alumni banquet and also for the radio at 8:40.

It was with pride that alumni realized that it was "our musicians" that Louisville was praising and admiring.

The alumni banquet held at 6 o'clock at the Brown was well attended. The program consisted of songs by the Glee Club, and addresses by Mrs. Kale Young Rice, author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and Dr. Frank L. McVey, President of the University, who were introduced by Mr. N. Gray Rochester, president of the Louisville Alumni club. After these interesting and inspiring addresses were finished, Dr. Edwin Mims, head of the Department of English at Vanderbilt University made a short and stirring speech to the assembly.

The Strollers presented their play "Fifty-Fifty" Friday night at the Atherton High school. This is the first time that the Strollers have played in Louisville, but their success has made future trips a certainty.

Nevada's Governor Speaks To Engineers at Dicker Hall

James G. Scrugham, '00, governor of the state of Nevada spoke to the students of the College of Engineering at Dicker hall, Wednesday on the archaeological explorations made in the southern part of that state, and the benefit being derived because of these explorations from tourists.

Announcement that the city of an ancient race, one inhabited by a population estimated at 20,000 persons, had been found, attracted thousands of tourists, the governor said.

"It was then that through my influence as governor, the legislature of Nevada was induced to pass a four-cent gasoline tax in order that we might build for our visitors roads that would make their trips to our ancient city more pleasant," Governor Scrugham declared. He stated that the revenue from the tax is fast building an excellent system of highways in his state.

Governor Scrugham went to Nevada as a young engineer more than twenty years ago. As state engineer a few years ago it was his duty to trace the water rights of numerous tracts of land over arid stretches of Nevada. While making surveys of such territory his first interest in prehistoric ruins in these districts was aroused, he said.

Fifty tombs of a city which extends from six to ten miles in length have been opened, some yielding valuable relics and pottery to indicate that the resting place of the tribal chief had been disturbed. Other graves not so prolific in yielding treasure were thought to be those of the humbler citizens of the city.

Governor Scrugham came by Lexington on his way home from a visit to New York where he went to interest eastern capitalists in financing the excavation work in the buried Pueblo city. Among the New York men interested in the work are George G. Heye and James A. Ford. He was elected governor of Nevada in 1922.

Transylvania Is Victor Over Indiana

By making four runs in the tenth inning, Transylvania triumphed over Indiana University by an 8 to 4 count last Saturday afternoon at Bloomington.

The Hoosier team used their two leading hurlers to offset the heavy hitting of the whole Transy team.

Ware led all in hitting by getting three hits in five trips to the plate. Two were for extra bases.

Watts, freshman pitcher for the Pioneers, twirled superior ball for the full time. Magoffin in center field showed real ability on several difficult catches.

KY. RIFLE TEAM CLOSSES SEASON

Make Almost Perfect Score in National Meet

The rifle team of the university has just completed the most successful season it has ever experienced, having consistently maintained an average of 99 percent in all firings, and defeating such noted teams as Missouri, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Montana, North Dakota, Tennessee and Pennsylvania Military College.

After the elimination in matches of West Virginia, Ohio State, Culver, Indiana, and Cincinnati, the Kentucky team won the right to representation in the national meet which is being held between 36 college teams throughout the country, and with a score of 1,985 out of a possible 2,000 to its credit, it is a conceded fact that when the winners are announced in May that Kentucky will lead the list.

Captain J. E. Torrence, supervisor and instructor of the team, is to be commended on the efficient manner in which he has conducted the meets and for the interest he has stimulated among the various members in the sport. He has been assisted in training the men by Sergeants Eberhardt and McGahan.

The high point men of the team are E. T. Bullock and G. D. Rogers. Other members of the team are: W. E. Weems, Donald Griffith, Mayo Anderson, H. Brown, George Woolf, A. W. Creech, C. Rice, H. R. Forkner, Louis Root, Melbourne Mills, J. Richardson and O. B. Travis.

H. R. Brown, of Bloomfield, is captain, and G. R. Woolf, of Paducah, is manager of the team.

Have you seen the new Finchley William Tell bow ties? No—what are they like? Oh, just pull back the bow and hit the apple.

KITTENS WIN ALTHO OUTHIT

Woodland A. C. Loses Contest on Three Errors

Playing for almost half the game in a drizzling rain, the Kitten baseball nine won from the Woodland Athletic Club on Stoll field Monday afternoon 5 to 4.

The Woodland team opened up a lead in the second inning by scoring two runs. Kentucky tied up the score in the fourth and took a three run lead in the fifth on hits and errors. Woodland nearly won the game in the eighth when they scored two runs.

The visitors had better pitching than Kentucky. King and Bramlette let the Kittens down with only four bunched hits, while Woodland amassed nine hits, four of which were for extra bases. Bartell, a Newport product, pitched the full nine innings for the yearlings and although he yielded almost twice as many hits as the opposing hurlers, bore down in the tight places and, aided by good support on the part of his mates, pulled victory from the fire.

Sidener, catcher for the Woodland nine, was the star batter of the game, with a triple and a homerun in four trips to the plate. Blevins secured a triple and a double. All of the Kentucky hits were for one base only and were scattered, most of the runs being made on errors.

The score:

	R	H	E
Kentucky	100	130	000—5 4 2
Woodland	020	000	020—4 9 3

Batteries: Bartell and Erickson; King, Bramlette and Sidener.

WIRTS ALLOWS MANUAL 2 HITS

Kitten Hurler, in Fine Form, Shuts Out Visitors

In a pitching duel on Stoll Field last Friday afternoon, the Kentucky Kittens beat the Louisville du Pont Manual nine, 1 to 0.

Wirts and Grawmeiger indulged in an old time hurling duel for eight innings but in the eighth inning Coach Eklund's men, on two successive errors by Jeffries, Louisville shortstop, ran in a score and won the contest.

Wirts had more stuff on the ball than did Grawmeiger, as the Kitten hurler struck out 11 men, while the Louisville pitcher fanned 6. Wirts walked six and his opponent passed only one. For the first eight innings the game was anybody's. In this frame the Kittens scored their run when Moffet, who hit for Jenkins, was safe at first on Jeffries' error. Franceway forced Moffet at second. Mohney hit a high fly just back of second and although Jeffries had plenty of time to catch the ball, he muffed it and allowed Franceway to romp home.

The Kittens secured four hits while Wirts yielded two to the visitors. The freshmen made two errors and Manual three. Wirts and McIlvain got the Kentucky hits with two each. Brown, centerfielder for the visitors, made both of their hits.

The score:

	R	H	E
Kentucky	000	000	01x—1 4 2
Manual	000	000	000—0 2 3

WILDCAT CINDER ARTISTS HANDED HARD DRUBBING

Brady's Superior Effort Keeps Kentucky in the Running

DEWHURST WINS 'K' Vandy Men Are Best In Ten of Fifteen Events

The 'cats were slightly outclassed by Vanderbilt last Saturday afternoon in the initial track meet of the year, being defeated by the score of 74 to 43. Kentucky did exceptionally well considering the time that the team has been out and the number of new men competing on the varsity track team. The Wildcats took five of the fifteen events.

The feature of the meet was the individual record of Brady. He proved himself to be one of the best trackmen in the south when he placed first in the 100 yard dash and the 220 low hurdles and second in the 220 yard dash and the pole vault, for a total of sixteen points.

Vanderbilt showed a quartet of remarkable distance runners in Baskett, Van Order, Peck, and Jennings. Baskett and Van Order finished first and second respectively in the half mile and mile events, while Peck and Jennings took the two mile event.

"Turkey" Hughes had an easy time in winning the high and broad jumps. On the high jump he had only to clear the bar at five feet six inches to eliminate Smith, Vandy aspirant and on the broad jump one leap of 21 feet one-fourth inch was sufficient for the annexation of that event.

Kentucky was in a class by itself in the hurdle races. In the 120 yard high hurdles Dewhurst and Lindle finished respectively first and second while Brady and Dewhurst ran first and second respectively in the 220 yard low hurdles.

No alibis can be offered for Kentucky. The men were not in shape for a track meet and a team in the high physical condition that the Commodore outfit was in could not be denied victory.

- 100 Yard Dash
Brady K first; Applegate V second; Davis K third.
- One Mile Run
Baskett V first; Van Order V second; Brame K third. Time 4:56.
- Shot Put
Bryan V first; Keene V second; Anglin K third. Distance: 40 feet 3 inches.
- 220 Yard Dash
Roberts V first; Brady K second; Pfeiffer V third. Time :24.
- 120 Yard High Hurdles
Dewhurst K first; Lindle K second;

Postpone Games On Account of Rain

Rain has caused half the number of games up to this time on the Wildcats' card to be cancelled and only three games have been played so far out of the six scheduled.

The first game with Georgetown was halted after four innings of play. Twice, games with Centre were called off on account of wet grounds and the first game of the two-game series with Georgia Tech Wednesday afternoon was halted by a rain and hail storm just as the game started.

'CAT NET TEAM WINS AND LOSES

Covington A. C. Beaten 6-1; Cincy Noses Out 'Cats

Coach H. H. Downing's University of Kentucky tennis team took the Covington Athletic Club to task last Saturday afternoon at Covington and emerged victorious in seven easy matches. Following are the results:

McFarland defeated Ernst, 6-1, 6-4. Greenbaum lost to Morgan Fenley, 6-4, 1-6, 2-6. Ragland defeated Bechtold, 6-4, 6-2. McClure defeated Byron Fenley, 6-3, 6-1. Reid defeated Trame, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. McClure and Greenbaum defeated Byron Fenley, 6-1, 7-5. Ragland and Reid defeated Bechtold and Trame, 6-4, 6-3.

In a match on Friday, the Wildcats were defeated by the University of Cincinnati netmen, 4 to 3.

McFarland and Ragland had little trouble defeating McCallum and Herron, 6-3, 2-6 and 6-0, in the first match of the day. The most spectacular matches were played by Reid, Wildcat racketeer, and Keiser, Covington player, when the former led Keiser to the tape after three hours of gruelling play. The scores were 2-6, 9-7, 7-5, and the last victory was attained by the Kentucky player after he was behind four sets.

Following are the results:

McFarland and Ragland defeated McCallum and Herron, 6-3, 2-6, 6-0. McClure and Greenbaum lost to Myers, Oexman, 6-3, 6-3. McFarland defeated McCallum, 6-2, 6-2. The latter is ranked as the best player in northern Kentucky. Greenbaum lost to Herron, 6-2, 5-7, 1-6. Ragland lost to Myers, 5-7, 4-6. McClure lost to Oexman, 1-6, 2-6. Reid defeated Keiser, 2-6, 9-7, 7-5.

The Wildcat team will meet Berea College at Berea Thursday and will meet the University of Louisville here Friday.

W. H. HICKERSON IS APPOINTED TO POSITION AT TEXAS A. & M.

It was announced last Monday that W. H. Hickerson, an instructor in the department of English at the University of Kentucky for the past two years, has been appointed as professor of English in the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. Mr. Hickerson will receive his Master of Arts degree at the June commencement. His home is in Owensboro, and he received word of his appointment last Saturday.

Mr. Hickerson was graduated from the university with the class of '23. While on the campus he has made many friends and is well known in various activities.

WILDCATS LEAVE FOR DUAL MEET WITH SEWANEE

Second Track Clash of Season Carded for Tomorrow

'CATS CONFIDENT

Kentucky Appears to be Class in the Hurdle Events

Kentucky's track contingent will depart this afternoon for Sewanee, Tennessee, where they will meet the University of the South tomorrow afternoon in the second annual track meet of the season.

While Sewanee has a strong looking team on paper, the Wildcats are confident of victory. Bad luck by the bushels hit them last Saturday in their meet with Vanderbilt and consequently they never came close. The lack of training was evident and they never approached the time and distance in the events last Saturday that they made the Monday before in the class track meet. Brady could not go 11 feet in the pole vault and suffered a defeat, although he beat Woolf at 11 feet 6 inches in the class tourney. The latter was off form Saturday on the javelin throw and allowed a Vanderbilt man to beat him at 162 feet 7 inches. The Wildcat captain threw the rod 165 feet 6 inches in the class meet and last year hurled it 173 feet 5 inches in the state meet against Centre, Georgetown and Berea.

Kentucky's entry looks like the class in the hurdle races tomorrow, and "Turkey" Hughes appears to have the jumps clinched. He made the broad jump in 21 feet 6 inches and jumped 5 feet 10 inches in the high jump to tie with Coons in the class meet. Hughes was not called on to extend himself last Saturday, as the Vanderbilt men could not come within a mile of him.

James Brady should win the 100 yard dash if he runs the race he ran Saturday. He covered the distance in 10 seconds flat and won by a wide margin. Lindle, if he gets the right breaks, should be well up in the 220 yard dash, probably the winner. Turning his ankle on the last curve was the cause of his defeat in the match against Vanderbilt and his followers are hoping for better luck tomorrow.

The following men will run in the events against Sewanee:

100 yard dash—Hughes and Brady.
220 yard dash—Brady and Lindle.
120 yard high hurdles—Dewhurst and Brady.
220 yard low hurdles—Brady and Dewhurst.
440 yard run—Brown.
880 yard run—Brown.
Mile run—Brame.
Two mile run—Dowden and Brame.
High jump—Hughes and Brame.
Broad jump—Hughes and Lindle.
Javelin—Woolf and Dewhurst.
Pole vault—Brady and Woolf.
Shot put—Woolf and Anglin.
Relay—Brady, Hughes, Lindle, Dewhurst and Brown.
Discus throw—Anglin.
Manager Clyde W. Norris and Coach C. A. Applegran will accompany the men on the trip.

GREETINGS TO OUR GUESTS

To the two hundred and twenty-five high school students of the state who are on the campus this week as the guests of the department of University Extension, the Kernel wishes to extend greetings on behalf of the student body and of the university at large. This is one of the several times that the university is host each year to the students in the preparatory schools of Kentucky, and we may say that it is with considerable pleasure that we look forward to each of these meetings with those who later will send many to join our ranks in the halls of the university.

These meetings constitute the beginnings of friendship between the students and the school which they are later to enter. These friendships are lifelong, and upon their proper inception depend in a large measure the fruits they will bear.

So let us begin this week to get acquainted. To those students who expect to enter the university when they have finished high school, or who expect to enter any other college or university, the Kernel wishes to say that four years in college may be the largest single factor in shaping the course of an individual's life. The university is a sort of mountain peak which the pilgrim climbs, with many labors and with many discomfitures, until he stands at the very top and surveys the world spread out before him like a vast panorama. From this point he considers the world, and then, having made his decision, descends into the field where he begins his labors at the task he has chosen.

Is it not a noble acquaintance, worthy of a good beginning?

CLASSICS COMING BACK

There is a commendable move on foot among the play producers of the United States to bring back for the approval of the public worth-while productions.

For the last few years such plays as "White Cargo," "Rain" and other tawdry, immoral, suggestive plays have held the stage. They have been produced with such lightening-like rapidity that clean, worth-while plays have not been given a chance. For comedy we have had presented to us the vulgar and for romance and tragedy we have been compelled to view the suggestive.

There is a reason back of the production of these cheap plays. The producers believe that they will swell the box-office receipts and the writers believe that they will sell more readily than classical productions. Some fact has led them to believe that the theatre-going public enjoys such "stuff." We are optimistic and believe that the public has tolerated these cheap productions because it had nothing better offered it.

A reform movement is much more valuable and far-reaching when it comes from within and we believe that the fact that producers themselves have taken the task of reforming the stage will bring about gratifying results. They have begun to realize that the public appreciates good things and have decided to give them to it.

There was produced in Convent Garden, London, January 17, 1775, a play known as "The Rivals." It is a humorous little classic written by Richard Brindley Sheridan and its first production was an absolute failure because it was five hours long. The author rewrote his play "with scissors." Immediately it was reproduced in England and in this country in 1896 with casts that will long be remembered the most brilliant groups of actors ever assembled. Joseph Jefferson, William H. Crane, Nat Goodwin, Francis Wilson, Robert Taber, Joseph Holland, E. M. Holland, John Drew, Julia Marlowe, Taber and Fanny Rice—names that send a thrill through every lover of good acting, composed the cast of these productions of "The Rivals" in America.

Producers today, who have resolved to reform the stage, decided that their first extensive step should be the reproduction of "The Rivals." They expect to also bring back other good plays. In bringing back "The Rivals" the promoters have brought back actors who are loved by the public; Mrs. Fiske, Chauncey Olcott, Thomas A. Wise, James T. Powers, Lola Fisher, Lotus Robb, Marie Carroll, Kenneth Thomson, Fred Eric, Gerald Rogers, George Tawde and Herbert Belmore.

The presentation of good actors and plays by the producers for the consideration of the public, then, is the first noteworthy step taken to provide wholesome entertainment for the future.

We believe that the public loves the higher expressions of art and the good things of life and that it merely appeared to like the cheaper presentations because they had nothing else to consider. We are optimistic and think that the efforts of these reform producers will not be in vain. The theatre-goers commend not condemn the classics that are being brought back and the writers will be inspired to write better plays, noting that the public will pay them as handsomely for the product as it has been paying for tawdry, low-brow, vulgar material.

FOLO COP

The stranger and myself were boring each other with pointless quips—a contest in which the stranger ran a poor second—while we awaited the chief. Consequently the Kelschief club was fast dying of sheer stupidity when the chief arrived burdened with intellectual smelling salts and cerebral stimulants.

"How about a little burlesque?" he asked.

"Fine," chorused the stranger and I, "where is it?"

"No, not a show, you dumb-bells. Satire, sarcasm, irony—that sort of thing."

We resigned ourselves to the will of Allah as the chief began.

Two weeks before spring vacation a subtle change was manifest in the atmosphere of Lexington. Bird notes seemed sweeter; the skies appeared more roseate; an air of gaiety pervaded the campus.

Vaguely musing why this change, I wandered into the bookstore. A stranger was saying to an interested group. "Good tidings come from the North." Mysteriously enough, he would add nothing more. I wandered down town. Another stranger was addressing the same words to those self-sufficient young men that frequent the Lexington Drug. Later that day another of those ubiquitous strangers was overheard by me in the Phoenix. You've guessed it. He was repeating that apparently inescapable refrain, "Good tidings come from the north."

This thing began to take on all the proportions and a few of the outlines of a mystery. Frankly, there was some secret here. The next week my sleuthing activities would have made Sherlock Holmes look look as inefficient as the constable of Turkey Creek, Ky. But ferret out the secret? Impossible. To everyone's relief an advertisement in the paper Palm Sunday announced: "Good tidings come from the North. The All-Japanese troupe of acrobats will appear at the Ben Ali the last half of the week."

The carnival spirit that followed this prosaic announcement! Staid old men were seen to be skylarking in the streets; confetti was as numerous as Eskimo pies at a basketball game; the milk man was quite as likely to leave Madeira as milk. It is a matter of record that not a student went home.

The stranger whistled one of those rasping whistles common to canaries that habitually oversleep. Me? Dumb-founded, non plused, flabbergasted, knocked out, any or all of those is or are equally applicable. The Kelschief club was fast reviving.

The stranger, being the first to recover, sang, before we could prevent him, this little indiscretion of his youth. He called it:

Would That I Had the Key
Your heart is guarded
By doors of jade—
Or is it chrysoprase?
Curiously carved jade
Has been fashioned
Into doors,
That your heart might be safe
from all questing.
The lock on the door is ivory,
Platinum and gold.
For all its delicate beauty,
It is far too strong to be broken—
The lock on the door of your heart.
So sleep secure in the knowledge
That your heart is ably guarded.
You would have it
Safely guarded;
You may be carefree now.
Your heart is guarded
By doors of jade—
Or is it chrysoprase?

Ah, well, spring is here. Neither the chief nor I was too severe with him.

"Chief," I spoke (for I had a dread of the silences) "you have long been questioning my ability to sing in vulgar rime. List."
(Explanatory note: Locale—Any fraternity house; Time: 7:57 a. m.)

Triolet
These first hour classes are the bunk
Brother there's egg on your chin.
One learns a senseless lot of junk;
These first hour classes are the bunk;
Some day, methinks I'll pack my trunk,
And flee this early din.
These first hour classes are the bunk
Brother there's egg on your chin.

The chief sighed. Envy, I thought it was. If not, why did he refuse to sing the next verse of his Zoo song. We pleaded with him.
"No," he answered, "my stuff doesn't fit in with such stuff as you and the stranger sing."
Then he laughed. The chief has a dirty laugh.
Dirty as it was, it didn't disturb the stranger. He was saying to himself, over and over, "I wonder what he meant by that?"

The stranger started, as one will whose cogitations (glad that's off my chest) are interrupted, and explained.

"Doctor Goofus, head of the Secology department, and I are great friends. I, not to be modest, have a knack of writing quite acceptable secology papers. In brief, papers that receive 'A.' Our freshmen have a knack, in its way quite as useful as mine, of handing my previous papers, variously disguised, in to the good Doctor. The Doctor returned my last paper Friday. As he did he epigrammatically remarked, 'Now I suppose it belongs to the ages.'"

The Kelschief club adjourned.

As the chief and I walked home through the pleasant night we heard music coming through the door of a certain fraternity house. The music was of the kind that one associates with preludes. Sure enough, in a moment the music stopped, and a young man pirouetted through the door, singing:

"We ain't a gonna dance no more,
We ain't a gonna dance no more,
But how in the world
Can the authorities tell
We ain't a gonna dance no more."

After he had ceased, another young man, a baby-blue boudoir cap atop his head, came out and chanted:

"Where's my social privilege, privilege, privilege?

Where's my social privilege, my fair lady?"

To our insistent questioning, the boys would only answer cryptically, "We went to Joyland last night!"
Allah be with you!

TO HOUSE 104 GIRLS

Building to Have Dining Room For 300 Students

Plans for a new girls' dormitory at the university to cost approximately $150,000, have been completed and construction work was started several days ago.

The building will be erected on a lot belonging to Walter K. Patterson, and adjoining Patterson Hall. The structure will be completed in time to be occupied next September and will make housing provisions for 104 girls and dining room accommodations for approximately 300 girls.

The Security Trust Company and the Combs Lumber Company will jointly erect the building according to plans approved by the university officials and will lease the building to the university with the privilege of purchasing it, if the necessary funds are available. The arrangement made possible through the cooperative plan of the Security Trust Company and the Combs Lumber Company is a great assistance to the university and will relieve the housing problem of the university to some extent.

JUNIORS RETURN FROM OHIO TOUR

Visit Many Factories in Various Ohio Cities

Thirty-five members of the junior mechanical and electrical Engineering classes of the university returned last Saturday from their thirteenth annual inspection trip after visiting many mills and factories in Cincinnati, Dayton and Middletown, Ohio. The trip was under the direction of R. D. Hawkins, E. A. Bureau, J. R. Johnson, and Gordon Thurman, professors in the Engineering college.

The juniors left Lexington April 20, arriving in Cincinnati at 11:20 o'clock Monday morning, where they remained until 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, leaving then for Middletown. In Middletown they visited the American Rolling Mills Company. The hostess who prepared the entertainment for the Kentuckians was a native of Mt. Sterling and was honored with a gift from the engineers on their return to Lexington.

On Thursday the engineers visited the National Cash Register Company, McCook field and the General Motors Research Corporation in Dayton. At the General Motors Corporation they witnessed work on the formation of a small automobile which was just five feet high, shorter than a Ford touring car, and would travel at the rate of 50 miles an hour on one gallon of gas.

THE STROLLERS SCORE A BIG HIT

by various members of the audience were presented to the ladies of the cast.

Although the actual cast of "Fifty-Fifty" will get most of the credit for the great success of the play, the other members of the Stroller staff should not be forgotten.

T. G. Bayless, who personally directed the play, deserves no little praise for his wonderful success. Mr. Bayless has proved himself a director not surpassed by many professionals.

James S. Darnell, president of the Strollers, Joseph K. Roberts, business manager, and Karl Rohs, assistant business manager, who conducted the business affairs of the organization, did most of the work toward making "Fifty-Fifty" a success from the financial point of view and are well worthy of praise.

Phillip Rusch, stage manager, with the help of his stage crew: William Burks, Robert Williams, C. M. Wheeler, Dow Caldwell, L. J. Clark and Edward Munich, designed all of the scenery and other essentials necessary for the stage of which they had charge at each performance. These men spent no little time and energy on their work and deserve much credit.

The other members of the staff who played an important part are: Rodes K. Myers, assistant director; Helen King, secretary; Robert Mitchell, treasurer; Cecil Charles, ticket sale; Loyd Terrell, assistant ticket sale; Joe K. Hays, advertising manager; S. B. Caldwell, assistant treasurer; and Enoch Grehan, faculty adviser.

During the Easter holidays the Strollers made a tour through the eastern and western parts of the state and embraced successful performances in seven cities and towns. They closed the most successful season of their career last night when they played before a full house in Frankfort.

TWO HONORARIES ARE CHARTERED

Omicron Delta Kappa and Chi Delta Phi to be Installed

During the last week the national councils of Omicron Delta Kappa and Chi Delta Phi have granted charters to petitioning groups at the university. Omicron Delta Kappa is an honorary fraternity for campus leaders and Chi Delta Phi is a national honorary literary sorority.

Eminence in scholarship, athletics, campus life, literary and forensic attainment and college publications form the basis upon which membership into Omicron Delta Kappa is determined. The fraternity was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914 and today has 17 chapters. Some of the institutions having ODK charters are: University of Pittsburgh, University of Alabama, Johns Hopkins University and North Carolina State University.

The members of the group on the campus who will receive the charter are as follows: Wayne Foust, Karl Rohs, John Dabney, Tom Ballantine, George Kavanaugh, Elmore Vossmeier, Curtis Sanders, Layman Mays, Emmett Milward, William Tunks, Joe Walters, Jack Green, James Darnell, James McFarland, Ab Kirwan, Leonard Tracy, Clyde Gray and Herbert Carter. The installation will take place early next week.

Chi Delta Phi was founded at the University of Tennessee in 1919 and has rapidly grown, having now 15 chapters. The nearest chapter is at Hamilton College, which was the second charter granted. High scholarship and ability to do creative work in literature are the requirements for membership. The following girls are to become members of the national sorority: Katherine Elliott, Katherine Truman, Mary Agnes Gordon, Edith Minihan, Lydia Fremd, Louise Burks, Frances Lee and Mary Elizabeth Depew. The advisers are Mrs. Frank L. McVey, Miss Elizabeth Gay, Prof. Grant C. Knight, and Prof. Enoch Grehan.

UNIVERSITY TEAM BEATS MISSISSIPPI

Girls Lose to Tenn. on Japanese Exclusion Act

The university debating team, represented by J. Y. Brown and W. D. Scott, won the debate with the University of Mississippi Saturday night at the Maxwell street Presbyterian church on the affirmative of the question "Resolved that the Child Labor Amendment should be adopted." Mississippi was represented by H. S. Lipscomb and R. W. Thompson.

The Kentucky debaters were favored by two judges and the Mississippi team received one vote. The judges were Dr. George Fisher, of Georgetown College; Professor Clarence Shute, of Asbury College; Dr. W. B. Hughes, of Kentucky Wesleyan, and Professor H. J. Scarborough of the Law school of the University of Kentucky.

The girls debating team of the university were defeated in a dual debate against the University of Tennessee on the subject of the Japanese Exclusion Act. The Kentucky girls had the negative on the subject. The team that went to Tennessee was composed of Misses Ruby Rush and Martha Reed while Misses Prewitt Evans and Dorothy Smith stayed in Lexington and fought with the Tennessee lasses here.

This is the first girls' debating team that has ever represented the university in forensics. The next debate for the Kentucky girls will be with the University of Louisiana at the Maxwell street Presbyterian church next Tuesday evening on the question of the Child Labor Amendment. Misses Rush and Reed will represent the university then.

Rodes K. Myers has been selected to represent the university in the annual southern oratorical contest, to be held in Lexington on May 16. The following universities will be represented: the Universities of Alabama, Tennessee, N. Carolina, Kentucky, and Sewanee, Vanderbilt and Johns Hopkins.

LIGON IS ELECTED STATE PRESIDENT

For C. A. Lampert addressed the violin section on "Bow Technique." In the department of Higher Education Dean W. S. Taylor read a paper on the "Junior Curriculum." Dean Boyd also addressed this meeting and was elected president for the ensuing year.

Professor J. C. Jones of the History department was to have read a paper on "New Viewpoints in History for High Schools," but illness prevented his attending and the paper was read by another.

Other addresses delivered were "History and Progress of the Junior High School" by Professor M. E. Ligon, "Making a Curriculum to Fit the Child," by Dean W. S. Taylor, and "Sectioning English Students into Ability Groups" by Professor L. L. Dantzler.

Professor W. D. Funkhouser delivered an address before the Ornithological Society on "The University of Kentucky Field Laboratory in the Mountains," and Professor R. N. Maxson spoke before the organization of Kentucky Association of Chemistry Teachers on "The Work of the Division of Chemical Education in the American Chemical Society."

The band played before the general assembly and in the afternoon broadcast from radio station WHAS.

The University of Kentucky banquet was held Thursday evening at the Watterson hotel and was largely attended by professors, students, and alumni of the university. President McVey addressed the assembly.

The headquarters of the university were on the mezzanine floor of the Brown hotel. According to reports this was one of the best and most successful meetings that the K. E. A. has ever had.

FIERY DEBATES OPEN 12TH TOURNEY

public discussion contests were held Thursday, the preliminaries at 2 p. m. and the finals that night at 8 p. m. at the Maxwell Presbyterian church. The oratorical contest was open to boys only, while the declamation contest was for girls only. Separate contests in public discussion were held for boys and girls.

Music furnished the subject for a number of interesting contests held Wednesday evening. David Young, a Lexington high boy was declared the winner in the violin and horn contest. Miss Lucille Dorsey, another Lexington student, was adjudged victor in the vocal solo contest. Cynthia's 27 piece orchestra defeated the Richmond high school orchestra in winning the band and orchestra contest. A quartet from Frankfort, consisting of Misses Carolyn Macklin, Frances Bealmear, Henrietta Blackburn, and Sue Green, was awarded first place in the quartet contest.

Members of the visiting high school teams are being housed in the various fraternity houses and dormitories on the campus. The majority of girls, who compose an unusually large percentage of the visitors this year, are being housed at Patterson Hall. The visitors are being given their meals at the university cafeteria.

One striking feature of the tournament is absent this year. For the first time since 1915 athletics are missing from the list of activities. Due to the inability to complete the cinder track in time for the tourney, no contests whatever in athletics are being held this year. Interest, however, is intense in the other contests and the general opinion is that in interest and quality the tournament this year is superior to former years.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE ROMANY HAS BEEN VERY RAPID

Public Pronounces "Little Play House" Big Success

PRESENT 10 PLAYS

Cast For All the Plays Chosen From Student Body

A little more than two years ago a group of people interested in community dramatics "got together" and decided to finance the purchase of a building to be used for these productions. Mr. Carol Sax, head of the department of Art of the university, who had successfully conducted a little theatre in Baltimore, was chosen as the natural head of such an undertaking. Today the Romany, though still burdened with debt, has been pronounced a success by an appreciative public.

In the beginning when the necessary number of guarantors had been obtained it was decided to buy the old negro church on Winslow street. The building was old and dilapidated but after the interior had been decorated by the university art students who carried out the idea suggested by the Gypsy name, it was truly fascinating. The stage, which was added to the rear end of the building, was built by five students who gave up their summer vacation in order to help. The casts for all the plays are chosen from the student body, the people of Lexington and neighboring towns who showed marked ability for acting.

The fifty guarantors entered into a contract with the Romany players, who promised to present for their pleasure ten plays, in return for which the guarantors were to receive season tickets for two years. Not only have the ten plays been given, but the players are to present about May 17 A. A. Milne's "Dover Road," a special production not included in the season's five productions. With the proceeds of this charming comedy they hope to eliminate the remainder of the debt incurred.

Plans are already being made for the coming season, 1925-26. The original list of guarantors is to be increased and a drive for new subscribers will be conducted in the fall. The building itself will also be remodeled somewhat.

Among the plays under consideration for next year are Shaw's "Pygmalion," "Outward Bound," "Expressing Willie," and "Captain Applejack." Tryouts for the "Dover Road" were held Monday night and first rehearsal was held on Wednesday night.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET SELECTS MEMBERS

The members of this year's "Y" cabinet were selected Friday afternoon in Dean Melcher's office by the members of the Y. M. C. A. for the year 1925-26. The following men were appointed: B. F. Kells, religious meetings; E. L. Berry, finance; Forrest Mercer, music; Paul Jenkins, athletics; Fred New, social service; Chas. And he has lived to see it

In 1881 Edison shipped to the Paris Exposition his "Jumbo" dynamo—eighth wonder of the world. It could light 1000 lamps. Now there are G-E generators large enough to supply current for over a million lamps, each with four times the candle-power of the lamp of 1881.

The General Electric Company produces other electrical apparatus which makes it possible to transmit power over great distances. It has put electricity in seven-league boots. In its laboratories, scientists are now experimenting with voltages ten times as great as the highest now in use.

If you are interested in learning more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

Back in 1885, Thomas A. Edison succeeded in transmitting electricity at 220 volts for one mile—an achievement and a promise.

The promise was fulfilled a few months ago, when electricity at 220,000 volts was transmitted two hundred and forty miles to supply Los Angeles with light and power.

Now five billion dollars are invested in electric power plants. A stupendous figure that testifies to the alertness of thousands of college-trained men who have been leaders in the production and use of electric power.

The electrical era has only dawned. Each year some new machine or discovery makes it possible to apply electricity in unexpected ways. The graduate of today will find electricity directly or indirectly a means for even greater accomplishments, no matter what his calling in life may be.

HEALTH SHOTS

The stomach is a workshop for nutritious food, not a playhouse for variegated whims. Its function is to satisfy bodily economy; not a recipient of anything a dime will buy.

Even a slight visual defect becomes an increasing problem with constant use of the eyes. Do not wait until the eyes fail completely for then you can argue neither with fate nor an oculist.

Have you begun your anti-typhoid inoculation? Now that we are on the "last lap", do not defer this too long. There are three "shots" at average intervals of ten days. The R. O. T. C. candidates for summer camp are coming in; they are setting a good example.

A health writer recently called attention to his idea that the term "acute indigestion" was a misnomer characterizing the usual so-called case of this type "acute indiscretion" instead.

Dr. Lucy Gillett of New York comments as follows: "Every man, woman and child should have strong muscles, firm bones, solid teeth, steady nerves, and good red blood; for surely nature intended every one to have these as his birthright."

The victim of chronic constipation who is a slave to drugs, careless in habits, indifferent in the selection of proper diet may have an unhappy future. In this condition the patient must cooperate to the fullest with all phases of a curative routine.

From "Collier's" is quoted a part of an illuminating article by L. D. Parlin: "A huge population that is susceptible to smallpox is coming into being in the United States." That is Dr. Benjamin F. Simon's way of saying that we in America do not realize that smallpox is a plague that sleeps until a vaccinated generation dies out and then comes to life again.

This is the time of year when the "summer cold" begins. Take care lest thou become overheated and too suddenly cooled. No need here to discuss theories as to cause or cure. The fact remains that the common respiratory ailments rob us of time, pleasure and profit. On the campus they are the chief cause of absenteeism for five months of the year; off the campus they are among the chief causes of curses. A thoughtful, careful person will not "catch a cold" by using common sense precautions unless a thoughtless, careless "sneezer" happens along without a handkerchief and lacking knowledge of rules of contagion.

ENGINEERS WILL INSPECT DIX DAM

Sophomore Class Will Make Trip Saturday

A class of fifty sophomore engineering students under the direction of Professor Thomas Barr will inspect Dix River Dam Saturday. The party will make the trip in busses, leaving the campus at 8 o'clock in the morning and returning late in the afternoon.

The purpose of the trip is to acquaint the students with the magnitude of the work which is now being completed at the site of the dam. With this precedent it is hoped that the sophomores in the college of Engineering will be allowed to take a trip annually as do the upper classmen, according to B. F. Kells, who is in charge of arrangements for the Dix River trip. Efforts are being made to have such a trip included in the schedule of the sophomore class of next year.

A Money Making Business For You After Graduation Days

JUST listen to this instance. E. I. Hiscox, of East Patchogue, Long Island, is a college man who worked for years in a New York office.

Always he chafed at being tied down to a desk.

Always he wanted to be free to do things that meant sunshine and flowers; health and happiness.

He saw men with seemingly little money build a greenhouse.

He saw one house grow to many.

He saw their owners always strong and well, and getting an abundance of wholesome joy out of life.

So he mortgaged his home, borrowed all he could, and built his first house 40 ft. x 150 ft.

Didn't know a thing about greenhouse growing.

But he found out, and made that first house pay the first year.

He has three now. Three of our finest iron frame houses, growing carnations.

If you like flowers and are not afraid to get some dirt on your hands, here's a contentment-filled, money-making business for you.

Let's get acquainted. Let's start by your writing us asking the questions that right now are popping into your mind.

Here may be the answer to what to do after graduation, to make money and have your share of life's pleasures.

If interested write to the Manager of our Service Department, Ulmer Building, Cleveland, Ohio, who will give it his personal attention.
